NEWS FROM LET'S GUIDE!

First Intellectual Output is completed and available on YouTube & website.

The first intellectual output of the Let's Guide project contains videos of successful entrepreneurs from Slovenia, Poland, Spain, Italy and Sweden. In the videos, entrepreneurs present their life stories and career development, and describe the most important skills one needs to succeed in entrepreneurship. All interviews are available on the official Let's Guide! YouTube channel and on the Let's Guide official website.

Work on the second Intellectual Output is in progress.

Based on the contents of interviews with entrepreneurs, the project consortium defined the most important skills and competences that are helpful in attaining a successful entrepreneurial career: leadership, resilience, communication skills, motivation, creativity and innovativeness.

The project team prepared modules with training contents for each skill. The final goal is to transcribe the knowledge from the modules into interactive learning scenarios. Scenarios will be part of interactive and innovative training courses, which remain the main output of the project. Technical support for this goal is provided by Crystal Clear Soft.
